General Information

- New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) Personnel Archives & Medals holds the files of all those who served in New Zealand's military forces from the 1st January 1921 to the present day. It should be noted, however, that NZDF Personnel Archives and Medals cannot guarantee that they hold all files created for an individual. Please note that the only South African War and First World War records available from this office are for those who served beyond 1st January 1921 or who re-enlisted for service in the Second World War. All other pre-1921 files are held by Archives New Zealand in Wellington and can be accessed online: www.archives.govt.nz. We do not hold any other military archive material or photographic collection/s.
- Access to personal information held by NZDF Personnel Archives & Medals is governed by the following legal provisions: The Official Information Act 1982, The Privacy Act 2020 and The Health Information Privacy Code 2020.
- All the material we hold is protected by copyright. Copies are provided for personal research purposes or private study only. NZDF copyright permission is required before this material can be used for any other reason.
- If you wish to supply any supporting documentation, e.g. Official Records of Service, Aircrew Log Books, etc. please attach copies to your application. Please do not send us any original documents.

Enquiries about living former service personnel

- If you are requesting details about another living person, information can be disclosed only if you have the signed and written authorisation of the individual concerned. NZDF Personnel Archives & Medals will not release information unless you can show us this authority. We also require a copy of the authority.
- If you cannot do this because the person concerned is unable to provide this authorisation, then we will need to receive a signed request from the person who holds the relevant Power of Attorney. We also require a copy of the Power of Attorney documents for verification purposes.

Enquiries about deceased former service personnel

- Anyone can request the service records of deceased former service personnel, whether it is for a research project, your family history or your personal interest.
- If the person concerned died after leaving the services this fact may not be recorded on their file. In such cases you will need to send us some form of "proof of death". This could be a copy of a death certificate, newspaper death notice, funeral service sheet or photograph of a headstone. No Government department or Returned Service Association is responsible for informing us of a death.
- Please note we cannot release the medical information of a deceased former service person until 20 years after they have died. This is in accordance with Rule 11 (7) of the Health Information Privacy Code 2020.

Medals Enquiries

- For information about medals entitlement and the issue of replacement medals and ribbons, please refer to the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) Medals website at nzdf.mil.nz/defence-and-whanau/medal-applications
- Please note that the NZDF only replaces medals during the lifetime of the former service person. NZDF cannot replace First World War medals and does not sell replica (copy) medals. Duplicate or replica medals including miniature medals can be purchased from various medal dealers in New Zealand, whose contact details can be found via an internet search for 'replica medals NZ' or searching the Yellow Pages under 'medals'.
